Project Title: Integration of Dental Conditions in Public Genetic Compendiums with Data Infrastructure Development and In Vitro Follow-up
Planned research population (eligibility criteria):
CCSS and SJLIFE participants with genetic data and oral health data available.
Proposed specific aims:
Aim 1. Discover variants and genes associated with periodontitis and loss of teeth using SJLIFE and the UK Biobank as two independent discovery cohorts. We will test variants across both datasets while using the time to periodontitis and time to loss of teeth as survival outcomes.
Aim 2. Validate associations discovered in Aim 1 using the independent CCSS cohort. We will select single nucleotide polymorphisms (SNPs) and genes that are highly associated in at least one of the discovery cohorts and test them for association in CCSS. When variants do not exist in CCSS, we will perform imputation. We will assess replication using a novel Bayesian approach for inference on composite outcomes that we will develop.
Aim 3. Develop a portal to host all summary results generated from project and provide all developed statistical methodology as open-source software.
Will the project require non-CCSS funding to complete? : Yes
