Project Title: Identifying Longitudinal Predictors of Quality of Life in Adolescent Survivors of Pediatric Cancer
Planned research population (eligibility criteria): Survivors who completed the Teen and Baseline Surveys.
Proposed specific aims: The Child Health and Illness Profile - Adolescent Edition (CHIP-AE) breaks quality of life down into 6 domains (satisfaction with health, discomfort, achievement, risk, resilience, disorders), so the aim of the current study is to create a model for each of these domains. 1. To identify predictors of positive adolescent quality of life (satisfaction with health, achievement, resilience), as rated by survivors on the CHIP-AE, using individual baseline characteristics such as child behavior, anxieties/fears, perceptions of health, pain, functional status, diagnosis, cancer therapy, and demographic factors. 2. To identify predictors of negative adolescent quality of life (discomfort, risk, disorders), as rated by survivors on the CHIP-AE, using individual baseline characteristics such as child behavior, anxieties/fears, perceptions of health, pain, functional status, diagnosis, cancer therapy, and demographic factors.
